Fr. Kevin Robinson, who is represented by CFN columnist Chris Ferrara of the Thomas More Society, was interviewed on Fox News by Tucker Carlson. Governor Phil Murphy (D) of New Jersey enacted one of the most authoritarian and totalitarian stay-at-home orders which, as originally promulgated, allowed the police to arrest as few as 10 people attending Mass. During his interview (below), Fr. Robinson points out the irony that although his church was closed by the police, just a few miles away an abortion mill remains open.

Keep up the good work, Chris!
