

CFN Editor-in-Chief Brian McCall and His Excellency Bishop Athanasius Schneider, auxiliary bishop of Astana, Kazakhstan, conduct a wide-ranging discussion of the so-called “springtime of Vatican II” that seems never to have arrived. As part of this discussion, His Excellency describes the removal of God from the central place in the liturgy and the need to replace the man-centered liturgies of today with ones turned toward God.

The conversation is inspired by two books recently published by Sophia Institute Press:
