While I was in Rome for the Conclave I found that although the SSPX church was very small compared to the massive churches which housed the Novus Ordo, the church was filled to the brim with young people. I got some of their reactions to the new Pope here:

Copyright © catholicfamilynews.com. All rights reserved. 